THE OCEAN
MAPPING
EXPEDITION

Some 500 years after Ferdinand Magellan, what are our spice islands? No longer in a literal but a figuratively sense.

In a world with steadily dwindling resources, what are the material, and even more importantly, the spiritual resources that we need to discover to help us rethink our relationship with Planet Ocean to make it viable and sustainable? To reinvent peaceable relations between ourselves and other human beings?

Led by Geneva-based non-for-profit Fondation Pacifique, The Ocean Mapping

Expedition set out from Seville in April 2015 on a four-year circumnavigation of the world (2015-2019) in the wake of the famous Portuguese navigator to stimulate the reflection suggested by this unique expedition that mirrors past and present, present and future. On board Swiss sailboat Fleur de Passion and combining scientific, educational and cultural programs, its ambition is to contribute to a better understanding of humanity's impact on the oceans and raise awareness of the related sustainable development issues.

Arriving from Durban and before heading further back to Spain, Fleur de Passion will stop in V&A Waterfront, Cape Town, from 3rd to 24th January 2019 and will be the focal point of a wide range of outreach activities to share the missions and spirit of this unique expedition. The stopover program includes:

GUIDED TOURS ON BOARD FLEUR DE PASSION

Experience the unique opportunity to visit 33m long Swiss ketch Fleur de Passion, a former WWII German Navy minesweeper turned into a sailboat in the mid-70's and since then dedicated to peaceful activities for the common good. Learn from her very deck about her unexpected yet vast and ideal potential as a platform for scientific programs on noise and micro-plastic pollution of the oceans, observations of coral bleaching due to global warming and monitoring greenhouse gases on the surface of the oceans. Experiment how such a biggest sailing boat under Swiss flag is the privileged setting for discovering life on the high seas, one's fellow human beings and one's own self through socio-educational programs or joining in as a passenger.

When	from 3 to 24 January 2019 10am to 12pm & 2pm to 6pm
Where	V&A Waterfront, Quay 6 (in front of Table Bay hotel)
What	1-hour guided tour by groups of up to 30 people at a time
